Vol. XIX.]

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1848.

[No. 5278.]

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy loaded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.
A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, cat-arrhs, and approaching consumptions.
To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness, or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the num-

THE ACADEMICIAN.
A Periodical work published at N. York.
Be thou the first true merit to befriend,
His praise is lost who waits till all commend.

We have delayed noticing this interesting work, until the present late period for many reasons, the principal of which is, because we know by experience, that the two or three first numbers of a periodical publication can never be a fair specimen of the work. Many readers, from this observation, will be ready to infer that the first is always the best, in order to secure patronage, and that the subsequent numbers gradually decline in merit.—Such, however, is not the case. There is no doubt that many editors and publishers have dispositions to practice such an imposition on the public; but with regard to periodical publications, it is difficult, if not impracticable. The first number is generally the work of the editor alone, who can seldom obtain assistance until he can first prove that he deserves it. His materials must be limited, whether internal or external; and there must consequently be a deficiency of that variety, without which, there can be no enjoyment, of any description, or from any source. This evil is gradually lessened as the work progresses; every succeeding number creates new food for the next; the duty of the editor becomes more light and pleasing, and the reader is compelled to acknowledge an improvement which he did not anticipate. This has been the case with every periodical work (which had any pretensions to merit) that we have ever examined. It is eminently the case with the Monthly Magazine, published in this city by Bigelow & Holley;—and the Academician is another elegant illustration of the position.—Waiting for a thorough conviction of this fact, has prevented our sooner noticing the work last mentioned. The other reason was, a hope that some able editorial pen would take up the subject before us.

The Academician, of which seven numbers have appeared, is issued semi-monthly, by Messrs. Albert & John W. Pickett, principals of the celebrated Manhattan Academy, in this city, and authors of several valuable and highly approved school books. Each number comprises sixteen pages, royal octavo, and is devoted, primarily, to "strictures on the best modes of education," and secondarily, to polite literature, and elegant miscellany, both in prose and poetry. As far as the work has already progressed, it has far surpassed the promises of the publishers. An unusual proportion of the pages is devoted to original essays; most of which would do honor to the literature of any country. The selection bespeaks great taste, judgment and attention, on the part of the publishers, and are calculated to improve the minds and refine the taste of youth.—Every parent, who is duly careful in the selection of mental food for children, ought to patronize the Academician; in which the reciprocal duties of parents and children, teachers and pupils, are clearly and pleasantly pointed out.

[Rep Chron.]

Asia, the birth-place of man, the cradle of christianity, the early seat of science and civilization, is now sunk in heathen idolatry and barbarism. Europe seems to have nearly attained the limit prescribed to mortal greatness. But America is yet in her infancy, highly favored by the hand of nature, and is rapidly increasing in wealth and population. Who then will deny that the following prophecy, written nearly 200 years ago, is in a rapid train of fulfillment?

"Westward the star of empire holds its way;
"The two first acts already past,
"The next shall close the drama of the day;
"Time's noblest offspring is the last."
The mind that lies fallow but a single day, sprouts up in follies, which can only be extirpated by constant and assiduous culture.

ALEXANDRIA: WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1818.

At a meeting of the Washington Society of Alexandria, at Brown's Hotel, on Saturday, the 4th July, 1818.—On motion, Resolved unanimously, That the thanks of this society be presented to THOMAS W. HEWITT, Esq. for his elegant and appropriate Oration, this day delivered, and that a copy thereof be requested for publication.
To this cordial approbation of the Oration, the Society, from a consideration of the place where the Oration was delivered, are induced to add an expression of their regret at the thoughtless manner in which some persons evinced their approbation of the Oration.

LATEST FROM HAVANA.

The schooner Col. Geo. Armistead, cap. Gatechair, arrived this morning, in 9 days from Havana. The day he sailed two carts arrived there from Pensacola, with Spanish soldiers and the Governor of that place, sent by General Jackson. It was expected American vessels would be detained, as a stop was put to loading them. As might be expected, the affair created considerable sensation.

Proposals for a new weekly paper have just appeared in Baltimore. It is to be entitled the "Journal of the Times," and edited by Paul Allen, Esq.

By a General order of the Commander in Chief of the state of New-York, it appears that the remains of General Montgomery have been conveyed from Quebec to this state, and that they were to reach Albany on the 4th of July. At Albany the remains will be committed to the care of Col. Gansevoort, Col. H. Livingston, and Col. L. Livingston, who will leave Albany on the 6th for this city. On Wednesday, the 8th, the funeral solemnities are to take place. [N. Y. Com. Adv.]

UNEXAMPLED MURDER.

On the 13th ult. a Mr. James Applegarth, who resided about six miles from Cambridge, Maryland, was murdered by a man named O'Riley. The murderer was apprehended on the same evening, and committed to the prison at Cambridge.—The extraordinary cause and circumstances of the crime, are related in a Maryland paper as follows:—O'Riley, a few weeks ago, opened a school, to which Mr. Applegarth sent two or three children. O'Riley, was frequently intoxicated and kept a disorderly school, on which Mr. A. complained. On 1st hearing that Mr. A. was dissatisfied with his intemperate habits, determined to be revenged the first opportunity, which was last evening near sunset, at the house of Mr. Caleb Lecompte, where he, O'Riley, boarded. Mr. A. went to Mr. Lecompte's where meeting with O'Riley, he spoke to him and extended his hand, at which O'Riley exclaiming, "I do not shake hands with a traitor," struck him three times: the last blow killed him. The jury of inquest held over the body, brought in a verdict of wilful murder, having discovered that he had been stabbed with a pen-knife in the side of his cheek, and that the jugular vein was cut, which caused instant death." OLBERS' COMET.

The interesting Astronomical Journal, entitled "Zeitschrift für Astronomie und verwante Wissenschaften," published at Tubingen in Germany, by the celebrated astronomer Lindensau and Bohnenberger, contains, among many other important articles, the observations and calculations made on the remarkable nebulous Comet of 1815, from which is deduced the following abstract:
The celebrated doctor Olbers, of Bremen, so well known to the scientific world by the discovery of the small planet Pallas and Vesta, had the good fortune to discover, on the 6th of March, 1815, a very remarkable comet, whose periodic revolution round the sun is found to be less than 75 years, being nearly the same as that of Halley's well known comet of 1759. This comet appeared like a nebula, or a small collection of shining matter, and was so extremely faint that it could not be seen except with a telescope. It passed, on the 26th of April, 1815, directly over a star of the ninth magnitude, (which is invisible to the naked eye) without eclipsing it, the star being seen distinctly in the telescope directly through the densest part of the body of the comet. It was visible from the 6th of March, to the 21st of August, 1815, during which time it described an apparent area of 126°. Its elements have been computed by several persons, particularly by Olbers, Gauss, Bessel and Nicolai. The calculation of Bessel is nearly as follows:

Time of passing the perihelion, April 26, 1815. Paris time.
Longitude of the ascending node, 85°28'34"
Inclination of the orbit to the ecliptic, 44,29,55,
Distance from the perihelion to the ascending node, 65,33,22,
Log. of least distance, 0.0858109
Eccentricity (mean dist. = 1) 0.95121968
Mean dist. from sun (earth's dist. from sun = 1) 17.65883
Periodic revolution, 74 years, 18 days.
Motion direct.

The remarkable success of Dr. Olbers, in the discovery of these small heavenly bodies, has induced Lindensau to give him the appellation of the "Columbus of the Planetary World;" and the German astronomers have generally attached his name to this comet.
The indefatigable Bessel has already computed the effect of the attraction of all the planets during the next revolution of the comet, and finds it will be shortened 824 days, and he predicts the time of its return to the perihelion to be 9th of February, 1897. This may be considered as the only comet, except Halley's, whose periodical revolution is well known.
The great attention of the Germans to practical astronomy is placed in a strong point of view by the recollection that this remarkable comet, and four out of five of the new planets, were discovered by Germans. Herschel (a German by birth, though resident in England) discovered the planet that bears his name, but which is more generally known by the name of Uranus; Pallas and Vesta were discovered by Dr. Olbers, of Bremen, and Juno by Mr. Harding, of Lilienthal; the other planet, Ceres, was discovered in Italy, by Mr. Piazzi. In addition to this we may also observe, that Lindensau makes an estimate of the number of astronomers now living in Europe, who have sufficient skill to manage the most difficult parts of the calculation of the disturbing attractive forces of the heavenly bodies upon each other, and sufficient patience and perseverance to complete a task of this kind when once begun; this number he makes very small, being only thirty-two, or upon an average, about "one for six millions of inhabitants."

(Of this small number, he assigns to Germany thirteen, to Italy eight, to France four, to Great Britain two, to Spain and Portugal two, and to all the northern European nations three; and this is probably a pretty accurate estimate; from which it will appear that Germany alone possesses more eminent astronomers of that description than can be found in all the nations of France, Great Britain, Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Sweden and Russia, taken together. Comptroller's Office, 25th June, 1818.
ANTHONY, ST. JOHN BAKER, ESQ.
Washington,

SIR,—I have attentively considered the question propounded in the enclosed documents, which were a few days since presented to me under your direction.
1st. Whether a Bermudian vessel will be allowed to bring West India produce to the United States, from Bermuda, which had been imported into that place from some other possession of his Britannic Majesty in the West Indies.
2d. Whether, according to the navigation act of the United States, which is to take effect on the 1st of October next, a vessel owned in Bermuda can be allowed to enter the United States and discharge a cargo which had been laden on board in the West Indies, brought to Bermuda, laden there, and again taken on board?

As applicable to the first question, I have to observe that the ports of St. George and Hamilton in the Island of Bermuda, are considered open to the vessels of the U. States, according to the ordinary laws of navigation and trade.—A British vessel, therefore, which was cleared out, whose cargo was actually laden, and whose voyage commenced at either of the said ports of St. George or Hamilton, may enter and discharge her cargo in a port of the United States, with this express understanding however, that no part of such cargo was brought in the same vessel to the island of Bermuda, from one of his Britannic Majesty's possessions closed to the vessels of the United States.—And moreover that such vessel is not employed in the transportation of goods to that island, from British colonial ports, which were closed against the vessels owned by citizens of the United States.

With respect to the second question, I have to observe, that according to the provision of the act, a British vessel sailing from a port not open to American vessels and entering a port that is open, unloading there, taking the same or some other cargo on board and clearing thence to the United States, cannot be admitted to entry.
As this kind of trade, heretofore considered a lucrative one, is declared by the act to be a direct trade from the excluded port, and is in express terms prohibited. I am, &c.

Comptroller

From the Boston Daily Advertiser, July 2.

We are indebted to our correspondents at Halifax, for the papers of that town to the 19th ult. from which we have made extracts. They furnish London dates a day or two later than before received, and also, a copy of the act of Parliament authorising the designation of certain parts in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, into which there shall be a free import of lumber, live stock, grain, flour, bread, fruits, turpentine, tobacco &c. in British vessels or vessels of the country of which the articles imported are the growth; and the export of domestic or foreign articles, in British or foreign, except that exports in foreign vessels must be made only to the countries to which the vessels belong.

The free Port Act, which received the royal sanction May 8, after a preamble reciting a variety of former acts, enacts, That, from and after the passage of this Act, it shall and may be lawful, in any British-built ship or vessel, owned and navigated according to law, or in any ship or vessel belonging to the subject, of any sovereign or state in amity with His Majesty, to import into such ports as shall be specially appointed for that purpose by His Majesty, within the province of Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, the following articles, viz:—scantling, planks, staves, heading boards, shingles, hoops, boxes, neat cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, or live stock of any sort, bread, biscuit, flour, peas, beans, potatoes, wheat, rice, oats, barley, or grain of any sort, pitch, tar, turpentine, fruits, seeds, and tobacco.

II. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That none of the aforesaid articles shall be imported into the said ports, so to be specially appointed, in foreign vessels, unless the said articles shall be of the growth, produce or manufacture of the country to which the vessels importing the same shall belong.

III. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful to re-export any of the said articles either to the United Kingdom, or to any other of His Majesty's possessions, in any British-built ship or vessel, owned and navigated according to law.

IV. And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful in any British ship or vessel, or in any ship or vessel belonging to the subjects of any sovereign or state in amity with His Majesty, to export from the same ports, to be appointed for that purpose, gypsum, grindstones, or other produce or manufacture of the said provinces; and also any produce or manufacture of the United Kingdom, or of His Majesty's colonies or plantations in the West Indies, or any goods whatever, which shall have been legally imported into the said provinces, any thing in any law to the contrary notwithstanding.

V. Provided always, and be it further enacted, That none of the aforesaid articles shall be exported from the said ports, so to be appointed to any foreign country or place, in any foreign vessel, unless such foreign vessel shall belong to the country to which the said articles shall be exported.

VI. And be it further enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice of his privy council, to make such rules and regulations for the importation and exportation of goods and commodities as aforesaid, at the said ports, with such penalties and forfeitures for the breach thereof, as shall seem fit and necessary to His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid.

VII. And be it further enacted, That this act shall continue in force during the space of three years from and after passing the same, and until six weeks after the commencement of the next session of Parliament.

TRADE OF THE INDIAN ISLANDS.

The Edinburgh Reviewers, in noticing Thurn's "Memoir of the Conquest of Java," take occasion to give an elaborate account of the Trade of the Indian Islands—from which, as a mere article of reading and entertainment, we should be disposed to make large extracts into our paper—much more so, as we think it will be highly interesting to many of our readers, as merchants and men of business, whose enterprise is mainly directed to the Eastern Quarter of the Globe, pursuing every track which promises to lead to new sources of profit, and extend the sphere of their activity.

[Salem Gazette.]

That vast and fertile group of islands which lie between India and China, is perhaps the richest and most luxuriant region of the habitable globe; and the greater part of its productions being eminently suited to the taste and want of all other countries seem, from the most ancient times, to have found a market co-extensive with the known world; and to have excited, through a long series of ages, the cupidity and ambition, not of traders merely, but of the greatest statesmen and conquerors. From the days of Alexander down to those of Bonaparte, the commerce of the Eastern world has been regarded as one grand source of national wealth and industry—the central and primary region of splendour and luxury—and the great fountain of public splendour and individual comfort.

It was by the golden droppings of this trade, strained through the narrow and obstructed channels of Arabia and Egypt, that the wasted shores of Italy, were the first stimulated to reproduction, after the conquest of the barbarians; and it was this that revived, by the wealth which it poured upon Florence and Venice, the slumbering genius of Europe, and re-kindled from its ashes the long extinguished flame of liberty and taste. It was the attraction of the same splendid commerce that gave its first memorable impulse to the spirit of maritime discovery, opened a way to Vasco round the Cape of storms, and led Columbus, though in an opposite direction, to the still more eventful and magnificent discovery of another world. Its actual effects too, were long commensurate with the efforts and expectations to which it gave rise. It created Alexandria; it revived Italy—it gave wealth, power, talent, and virtue to Portugal and Spain—and spread through all Europe that taste for elegance and splendour which is akin to still higher refinements—and is, at any rate, the great spring of mental activity and enterprising industry.

Without pretending to a very complete or minute enumeration, we may observe, in the way of general description, that the Indian Islands trade with each other—with China and Japan—with what Dr. Lcyden places the Hindu Chinese nations of the continent, with Hindustan, with Persia, and Arabia, and with Europe and America. Each of these branches of trade will demand a few observations.

The population of these Islands may, in a commercial view, be enumerated as follow: viz. the Agricultural tribes, who provide all the commodities not furnished by the spontaneous bounty of nature, and who as there are scarcely any manufacturers, may be reckoned the most civilized of the natives; the maritime tribes the most turbulent and enterprising—the savages, who, till they can be tamed, are often destructive than serviceable to commerce—and the foreign settlers, who may be looked on as the brokers and wholesale merchants in the great traffic which is driven from one end of the Archipelago to the other.

Among the agricultural nations may be reckoned some of the greater tribes in the interior of Sumatra; the people of Bali and Lombok; and, above all, the bulk of the population in the fertile island of Java. The navigators, or maritime tribes, comprehend all the nations which speak the Malay language, and the greater portion of the spirited and enterprising population of Celebes. The foreign settlers are a few Europeans, emigrants from the maritime parts of continental India—some adventurous Arabs; but above all, the Chinese, the industrious and indefatigable Chinese, in a tropical climate at least, the most productive class of subjects which any state can possess.

The more improved tribes, or those fixed to the soil, supply the maritime or less improved tribes, with such productions as imply a superiority of skill and industry—such as corn, cotton, wool, cotton cloths, salt and tobacco. All these articles, when exported, for example, from Java to Sumatra, Borneo, the Peninsula and the Moluccas, bring an advance, according to circumstances, of from one to three hundred per cent. The productions which the less improved tribes supply in exchange, are, in their rude state, or little altered by labor; such as gold dust, rough diamonds, cloves and nutmegs; benzoin, gambir, or catechu, the indispensable of a plant which is eaten as the betel nut, and constitutes, indeed, from its universal use, one of the most considerable articles of native commerce.

The carrying trade, in all these commodities, is principally conducted by enterprising navigators of Celebes, especially by the Bugis of Wajo, by their skill and activity, may be said to form the very life of the native commerce of the Archipelago. They dwell in the borders of a great lake, from which flow into the sea several navigable rivers. There is no country from N. Guinea to Mergui, to which their enterprise does not extend. Setting out in their voyages at the beginning of the rainy seasons, they quit the borders of their native lake, in vessels of from 30 to 70 tons burthen, and sail in various courses, as directed by interest, habit, and previous connection. The principal outward cargoes are chiefly composed of the excellent durable cloths of their native country, manufactured for the cotton of Bali and Lombok. A greater number of the traders direct their course toward the fertile and extensive countries to the westward. One body takes the direction of Java, where they exchange their cloths, and gold and silver specie, for the highly prized sugar of that island, which supplies the extensive consumption of the Indian Archipelago throughout with that drug, the opium of Bengal—the Cotton of the East Indies and India—and the iron, bronzes and steel of Europe.

The most considerable body however performs a trading voyage along the coast of Celebes, Borneo, Sumatra, eastern shores of the Gulf of Siam, islands in the mouth of the Straits of Malacca, and the western shores of the island, until it terminates in Malacca or Penang, where they give the gold bullion, collected on the voyage, for some commodities obtained by another trade—in Java—at Panan Bone, to give some notion of the extent of this branch of trade, we have reason to believe that not less than half a million dollars in bullion is annually left there for people in exchange for the article of opium.

The Wajo and other merchants of Celebes, who take an easterly direction, generally engage in the fishery of tortoise, a singular article of luxury, and from its amount, and the demand for it, a most important ingredient in the commerce of the Indian Islands to the east, which abounds in the parts of the country; and birds, which are found in almost all of the Islands. These same merchants, before they are disturbed by the injustice of the great spice trade, and transported spices to the euphoria of the parts of the Archipelago. A few dried cloves and nutmegs, and a portion of the spices in their wild are all that now remain to them as a branch of commerce.

Of the adventurous character of commercial enterprises of these seas, the highest opinion may be formed, from their voyages to the New-Holland in quest of the fishery of which it is probable not less than 40 vessels of from 3 tons, are annually engaged from Macassar alone, from which 4 of the commodity are exported to the sole market of this singular branch of trade, where the curious discriminations of nature divide the spoils to no less than thirty varieties of any different prices; one hardly distinguishable from the other but by a dealer.

These spirited adventures of the sea merchants are, however, it is to be overlooked, wonderfully facilitated by the ease, the safety and security which the sea of the Indian Archipelago may generally be navigated. The number of islands, the proximity of the shores, the smoothness of the sea, the total absence of hurricanes, the steady monsoons, and the steady breezes, make it, in the most of ease to perform in the most of such long voyages, as it is madness to undertake in any state.

At Penang alone, to give some notion of the extent of this branch of trade, we have reason to believe that not less than half a million of dollars in bullion is annually left by these people in exchange for the single article of opium.

Of the adventurous character of the commercial enterprises of these semi-barbarous traders, the highest opinion may be formed, from their voyages to the coast of New-Holland in quest of tripping, in the fishery of which it is probable that not less than 40 vessels of from 20 to 70 tons, are annually engaged from the port of Macassar alone, from which 400 tons of the commodity are exported to China, the sole market of this singular luxury, where the curious discrimination of the epicures of that nation divides the fish into no less than thirty varieties, as in many different prices; one hardly distinguishable from the other but by a practised dealer.

FOR delivering to me, or securing in any jail in the United States, so that I get him again; a Negro man named HADON, who ran away on the 8th of September last.—Hadon is about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, 24 or 25 years of age, light complexion, (though black,) very likely, rather a down look, trim made, and very active. I purchased him of Col. Enoch Renoe, of Prince William county, where his mother and several brothers live—he has also relations near Leesburg, Loudon county, where he was caught about the 1st of January, but made his escape—he has relations in Stafford county, the property of a Mr. Barty—he was seen in that neighborhood not long after he ran away, occasionally shifting his residence to avoid detection. I caution any person that may take him to be on his guard, as he has made his escape three times from his cunning and activity.

N. B. This Negro has several relatives in Charles county, Maryland, in the neighborhood of Nanjemoy, belonging to a Mr. Renoe.

20 Dollars Reward.

FOR delivering to me, or securing in Jail so that I get her again, a mulatto woman named FLORA, who ran away on the 26th of June last. Flora is about 5 feet high, well made, large feet, good countenance, twenty four or five years old. She can read and write, a girl child, 4 months old, and a variety of clothing, among them a black silk dress—one buff calico—one domestic riding coat, nankin colour—a new black fur hat. It is believed she was carried to Alexandria in the mail cart, and has since been seen there, and no doubt is concealed by the negroes of that place; whoever delivers the woman and child to me, or secures them in jail shall receive the above reward.

C. L. SEARS,

It is believed he is gone to New-York.

Whoever takes up said apprentice, confines him in any jail in the United States, and gives me legal information of the same, shall receive the above reward. Masters of vessels, and all other persons, without exception, are forbid harboring or trusting him on their vessel.

The subscriber offers for sale a FARM of 430 acres, being part of the tract whereon he resides, in Fauquier county, Va. More than one-third of this Farm is in timber, and is land of the richest quality. He would also dispose of a lot of 50 acres, the whole of which is in timber, and is first-rate tobacco and meadow land. On this lot has been erected well built saw mill, contiguous to which is a most valuable site for a merchant mill. No property is better worth the attention of a person wishing to engage in such business. On the first mentioned farm are a commodious overseer's house, a new barn, stables, corn houses and negro quarters, and about 20 acres of timothy meadow.

The farthest boundary of this land is not more than three miles from Leesburg, and the nearest, which is in timber, not more than one mile and a half. The timbered land will be laid off into 10 or 15 acre lots, reserving a sufficient quantity for the land now cleared and in cultivation. It is unnecessary to say that this land is as well adapted to plaster as any in that part of the country; and if not sold at private sale previous to the September Leesburg court, will be then offered at public sale, and the terms made known on the day.

A valuable Farm in Jefferson county, Virginia. BY virtue of a decree of the superior court of chancery for the Richmond district in Virginia, in a suit between the executors of General George Washington, Thomas L. Alexander, (by Ludwell Lee, his appointed guardian in this case) and Richard H. L. Washington, John A. Washington, Rushrod C. The above tract of land lies about 16 miles from Winchester, and about 6 miles from Charles-town, and on the main road leading from Winchester to Baltimore, city of Washington and Alexandria. It is well adapted to plaster and clover, and is in quality little inferior, if at all, to that of any farm in that rich valley. The improvements on it are a large two-story frame dwelling house, barn and other necessary out houses.—The water is limestone and of excellent quality.

Any person wishing to view the premises will be shown them upon application to John A. Washington or Rushrod C. Washington, living near the land.

600 acres of Land for sale.

THIS Tract is situated in Westmoreland county, Virginia, adjacent to Mr. Garnett Hunter's Plantation, and contiguous to the waters of the Potomac. The neighborhood is good—water excellent, and very desirable situations for building. Any one wishing to purchase may apply to ROGER JONES.

Also, a very valuable LOT, containing 140 acres, being a part of the late Mr. John Turberville's tract—within 6 miles of Georgetown, 3 from the Little Falls Bridge, and near to the turnpike leading from thence to Wiley's, in Fairfax county, Va. A great proportion of this land is exceedingly well timbered, and that part which is not, is so recently cleared as to be in an active state for cultivation, and already in a productive condition. For terms, apply to PHILIP C. JONES, esq. in Leesburg, Va. or to R. JONES.

Dr. Thomson's System of Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phenomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition; so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstract calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavored to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.

THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a super-fine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12 to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

James Kennedy & Son, RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

LEE'S MEDICINE STORE,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar title so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or gripping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebrator or large round worm; the Ascariides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALASSAID FEVERS, is recommended HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS. THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West India and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than do mere assertions.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prevent an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in case of desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance; they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness in the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthma, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions. To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders, Violent cramps in Consumptions, the stomach and Lowness of spirits, the back, Loss of appetite, Indigestion, Impurity of blood, Melancholy, Hysterical affection, Gout in the stomach, Inward weaknesses, Pains in the limbs and debility, Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, &c. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Rich.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent ingredients, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ring-worms, sunburn, prickly heat, &c.
